PROFILE

15 years experience running several successful businesses, with a passion for expanding my knowledge and an evolutionary mindset. Working remotely has brought great strengths such as self motivation, creative thinking, problem solving, and attention to detail. Each job has pushed for varied skill sets, which has taught me to adapt easily. Very much a people person with great communication, time management, and leadership ability. Having ADHD has been a superpower in producing my extremely creative flare and motivation for organisational skills.
